

Honorary Life Membership Citation : Christopher R. Whyham

At Poulton Photographic Society we have, occasionally, offered Honorary Life Membership to a person who is very much part of the Club, has given invaluable service to the society, who always has its interests at heart and who cannot currently, and for a variety of reasons, attend the meetings.

The Club would like to offer that you should be our fifth Honorary Life Member. (The other awards were made to Ted Gray, Roger Goodwill, Charles Ashton and Chloë Johnson).

We feel that this award is particularly appropriate in this, our Golden Anniversary year, as you started your two year spell as Chairman twenty-five years ago this year. In all the time of your membership, there have been lots of individuals in the Club who have enjoyed your lively wit at meetings and benefitted from your sharp advice.

Your willingness to help out has been immortalised on film when you took on the role of Sir John Bickerstaffe in the Blackpool Tower AV that won the L&CPU AV competition during your Chairmanship.

The idea of the Honorary Life Membership is that it enables the person to remain very much part of the Club community, and so keep in touch, and for the Club to have access to advice when it needs it.

We would be really pleased if you would accept our offer and be our fifth Honorary Life Member.
